It was wonderful to see so many parents speaking with their child's teachers on their academic progress. I hope that the interviews were informative and you received useful strategies on how you can help your child.

Wild Rhino Competition Winner's

Semester 1 Parent - Teacher interviews

K1 Integrated students

Extra-curricular activities for Term 3 continue to be well attended with many students enjoying the sports program, Learn to Swim, Chess, Debating, Choir, Orchestra, Chinese Traditional painting, and many other enrichment programs. There are also support programs such as homework; exam preparation, tutorials and more.

Parent / Teacher interviews were held at the beginning of March where parents had the opportunity to discuss their children's SA1 reports and their progress; as well as set goals for the semester ahead. Parents are co-educators and are fundamental to their child's success. It is very important that a good rapport exists between parents and teachers.

School photos were taken of each individual student, class groups, sports teams, staff and administration teams, etc. this month. Parents will receive their child's picture and receive the yearbook at the end of the year, where class pictures will be featured.

Excursions A few of the classes have ventured out on excursions:

- SHS to X-Rock climbing
- K1 & K2 Integrated and International to Kizciti
- GAC to Vung Tau

Thanks to the teachers for preparing and taking the students on these very interesting and relevant outings, which are

- an extension and expansion of outlook beyond the classroom
- the opportunity for experiential learning as a contrast to verbal
- the opportunity to broaden the social experience of the students

"One of the key roles and challenges of education in the 21st century is to build the capacity of our youth so that they can create a better future, not just for themselves and their families, but for all people.

They will need the appropriate knowledge and skills as well as great depth of character to respond successfully and wisely to the global challenges that lie ahead."

These are the virtues teachers and students will focus on this term.

Dear Parents and Students,

Over the past few weeks, students have been informed about the many University Fairs that have been offered by organizations such as INTO, ISN, IDP and Capstone. We were also fortunate to have representatives from these universities visit our school to talk to the students. These universities included: George Mason University and Marshall University (INTO - USA) as well as University of New South Wales and the University of Queensland (Australia).

The message from the visiting American universities is that they will accept international students who have completed their education in Vietnam and have achieved excellent results and the language proficiency as set by the university. They are not willing to accept international students who complete their study in American high schools. Competition is extremely fierce in America to get into the best high schools and universities. Local American students have the advantages over international students who complete their High School in America. Parents should listen carefully to sound advice from schools and teachers and not be persuaded to send students overseas before they finish their schooling.

We are currently planning a parent information event in May, where we will have universities speaking about studying overseas.

For the past seven years, students have graduated from the GAC program and continue to be successful. Here is a quick update of some of our past students.

Pham Minh Triet (GAC 2009) After graduating with B.A with Honors (High Distinction) in Political Science (2014). In September, Triet will attend Georgetown University, Washington D.C, the #1 school in the US in International Affairs. He has been awarded a half tuition scholarship for the next two years.

Ha Quoc Tien (GAC 2010) Tien has recently graduated with a Bachelor of Marketing and International Business (2014). He is now embarking on a Master of Business Process Management at QUT, Australia.

After graduating with a Bachelor of Accountancy (2013), Le Michael (GAC 2011) completed his audit internship in Vietnam and has recently secured employment with PricewaterhouseCoopers, Vietnam.

Janelle Baker – Deputy Principal (High School)

Dear Parents and students,

We hope you had a happy and refreshing TET break with your loved ones and look forward to a great second half in the academic year 2014-2015. Our GAC students are at the end of Level 2 and with only Level 3 to complete. Each day that goes along means our GAC students get closer to the Big G; “Graduation” so we are working hard with the students to best prepare them for this big day in July and of course prepare them for university life after their years of study here at Saigon South. The MOCK Exams took place, 16 – 20 March where our IGCSE 2 sat their Business exams and our A and AS students took a variety of subjects including Business, Economics, Maths, English, Biology and Computer Science. These are valuable practice exams to prepare them for the real Cambridge exams in May and June. A very important time awaits our high school students, we as always are here to support them and wish them all the best.

Robert Gayst – Head of Studies (High School)

Dear Parents and students,

Students and parents are often asking teachers how students can improve and work on their English skills. Along with daily reading, here are just a few ideas of some other ways to improve your English:

Listen to, read lyrics or translate your favorite English music. Listening to music while doing something else can even help a little for things like getting used to the natural rhythm and tone of English speech.

Social media/online: Try using English for your online chats, writing on someone’s wall or sending out a tweet. The language is short and informal just like speech.

Switching your search engine to the English language version of msn, yahoo, Google etc. and only searching in English can be a good way of practicing fast reading for specific information in English.

Keep up with news and watch popular shows and movies. If you have been exposed to topics and trends that are likely to be discussed in conversation, you have a much better chance of understanding people when they talk, and of being able to express yourself well.

Sharla Scott – Head of Studies (Year 5 – Year 9)

Dear Parents and students,

Last term Year 3 learnt about cartography, the study of maps and map making. During this unit students created their own large map of Latin America and the Caribbean. With guidance students were able to recreate a sample map of an assigned Latin America Region and a regional map which was to be put together to create a large patchwork of the region. Throughout this unit students were able to demonstrate how to work collaboratively with others, became critical thinkers, understand and respect their own and other cultures.

This month the school held their annual book week. It is held during the first week of March so that we can also celebrate 'World Read Aloud Day'. Every year on the first Wednesday of March, World Read Aloud Day calls global attention to the importance of reading aloud and sharing stories. As a school we all got together with our buddy classes and read to each other, with teachers also taking time to read to students they wouldn't normally teach.

This year books were on display and for purchase from two book distributors; Dai Truong Phat and Phuong Nam Group (PNC). For every book sold, a percentage of the sales were given towards purchasing new books for the library. We are happy to say that we have had a successful book week and were able to purchase new books to the value of $1000 USD.

Kaye Tamarua – Head of Studies (K – Year 4)

Dear Parents and students,

The students have returned to school after the Tet holiday. Since then they have been learning the virtues: patience, honesty and self-discipline.

From 16 March to 27 March 2015, the Integrated students sat mid-semester tests. The results you achieve will reflect your dedication and hard work.

On 1 April, the school will be organizing a talk about "Etiquette in school". Master Nguyen Hoang Khac Hieu - psychological lecturer from Ho Chi Minh City University of Pedagogy will be our speaker. This talk will help students to understand that it is important to care about your etiquette and how important social communication skills are when interacting with teachers and friends.

On 4 April, Saigon South will hold "SIS's Got Talent" or 'SGT', our successor event to the very popular 'Night of the Arts' held in 2013. Auditions have already been held and the competition was stiff, with many excellent talents being showcased for our judges. Straight after this event, Student Council will hold a 'Spring Dance' for Year 6 and up. We have a well - known South African DJ booked for the event so please join us for a day filled with amazing talents and dancing. Tickets for SGT only or for the dance and SGT together, will be on sale soon. For our junior year levels, we have another movie night planned where Doraemon the movie will be shown. Please refer to the posters placed around the school and speak with your teachers for more details. That's it from us! We hope to see all of you on 4 April.

Tu Minh Tri – Student Council President

Dear Parents and Students,

Football: We had an eventful month starting with the U14 boys and girls Football Championships. We hosted the Boy's tournament here at SIS. Five schools joined us on a sunny Thursday to battle out for the 2014-15 title. Our boys won 4 out of 4 matches to set the day off to a great start. Great team work and passion was shown throughout all games. Unfortunately we ran out of steam and took our first defeat of the day in the semi final. Great performances shown by all, giving a special mention to Michael (IGCSE1).

Swimming: The Year 2 to Year 5 swimmers have been busy in the pool the last few weeks with training and competitions. After coming second overall in last year's Championship, we were hoping to perform better but the competition was tough, coming home in 4th place. Two swimmers, who stepped up to the high competitive level, coming home with 3 medals each, were Haruta and Tony (both Year 5). Well done boys.

Badminton: Badminton players are taking part in an intra-schools tournament this month. Students from Year 6-9 will play singles and doubles matches against one another at lunch times and after school. The winners will be awarded a position on the U14 Badminton squad to compete in next month's Championships.

Athletics: The track and field event of the year was a huge success. Athletes from Year 3 up to IGCSE competed in running, jumping and throwing events. We came away with many wins, with the U14 Girls particularly excelling on the day.

Siobhan Synnott - PE teacher/ Athletic Coordinator
